POWDERED did a manly thing when he said "I do not know the particulars of the strike in question, but if it is true that the men are making an effort to do away with the European custom of grading men up and down, regardless of merit, then they are right for making a fight for equality. My opinion of a man who takes the place of another struggling for his rights, is that he deserves the contempt and scorn of every man who loves justice. It is true that members of the Brotherhood have, on repeated occasions, taken the place of members of the Knights of Labor, but the merits of the various cases have nothing to do with the principle of honor involved in all of them. It is to the eternal shame of the Brotherhood men that they stooped to such a mean and such treacherous, unmanly conduct. A man who takes the place of another when that other engages in a struggle with a corporation, is a scab, whether he be a member of the Brotherhood or Knights of Labor. Stand back and let the struggle go on. Let the Brotherhood demonstrate its power to stand alone without entangling alliances with other trades. Let the past be forgotten. No matter how bitter you may feel toward these men, remember that they have not stepped out of the rut of selfishness yet, and it is best to teach them what manhood means by keeping your hands off the Burlington strike. The spectacle presented by men of labor who belong to different organizations, rushing at each other's throats whenever a strike takes place, must be a gratifying thing for the employers to look at."

VASSAR COLLEGE contains not only some very bright girls, but patriotic ones, too. On the occasion of the birthday of the Father of his Country these young ladies celebrated the event in an unique and novel manner. A New England supper was made the objective point at which the display was made, and at the designated time the big dining hall was aglow with many lights and gay with flags, while along the walls appeared the coat-of-arms of each state, which had been illuminated by members of the art class. A good-sized hatchet, trimmed with red, white and blue ribbons, was suspended over the entrance, and under it trooped such a motley crowd as was never before within those staid precincts. Fully two-thirds of the girls were transformed into gallant soldiers in regimental bravery of buffed-faced coats or brilliant uniforms, gold-laced and decorated with epaulets, according to rank. Full, powdered wigs abounded, and the most correct queues, tied with black ribbon, bobbed in every direction. They wore swords, too. George Washington, personated by a stately young blonde maiden, wore his well up out of the way, while that of Gen. Green, who was a small girl, trailed on the ground and got helplessly entangled in his skirts, for all these gallant creatures were military to the teeth and sweet girl graduates below, clad in clinging dark skirts. Among the women characters who appeared were: dainty Puritan maidens, quaint Quakeresses, colonial grand dames and two Troop leaders.

CLEVELAND foresaw the temptations which induce a President to become a candidate for a second term, and now he feels that as he described them. He said that "the patronage of the great office, the allurements of power, the temptation to retain public place once gained, and more than all—the availability a party finds in an incumbent when a horde of officeholders, with a zeal born of benefits received and fostered by the hope of favors yet to come, stand ready to aid with money and trained political service—that these were the pull that drew a man on to want a re-nomination, and he has found out just how it works."

The fishery treaty has been received with great cordiness by the Canadians. The Dominion papers have all been loud in the expression of their disapproval. Every week that goes by sees Canada more and more desirous of commercial union with the United States, and commercial union once obtained, political union follows as a matter of course. Canada is in the unpleasant position of feeling herself sacrificed to the interests of the "step" mother country three thousand miles away, and kept at long arm's length by the country whose arms are open to receive her.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Democratic Tariff Bill Submitted.

A Close Call for a San Francisco Jurist.

A Colusa County Murderer Arrested—An Oregon Horror—A Texas Massacre.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee yesterday submitted to the full committee the tariff bill upon which the Democratic members have been at work for several months. The free list section takes effect July 1, 1888. The measure was immediately made public. Among the additions to the list of articles which may be imported free of duty are the following: Timber of various kinds, timber or lumber, whether hewn or sawed; also, rough wagon and shipping material and all kinds of wood not specified in the bill, provided the articles mentioned are not subject to duty in the country whence imported, otherwise, the present duties will be levied; salt with the same restrictions as timber, flax, hemp and various vegetables, fibers and burlaps, not exceeding sixty inches wide, bagging, tin plates, zinc plates and ladders; tin, beeswax, gelatine and similar preparations, glycerine and glues, phosphorus, soap and soap stocks, tanning bark, oils compressed from seeds, petroleum and its products, mineral waters and imitation cereals, and its products, turpentine preparation, known as essential, expressed, distilled and rendered oils, alkaline, alkaloide and various chemical compounds, bulbs, fruits, nuts, seeds, etc., crude caries, clays, minerals, opium (crude), containing over 9 per cent of morphia, for medicinal purposes; iron, steel, hoops, needles, copper ores, regents and old copper, nickel ore and crude antimony, quicksilver, oromate of iron or chromium, crude mineral and metals unwrought, and not specially enumerated or provided for; brick, vegetables, meats, beans, peas, etc.; pulp for paper, Bibles, books and pamphlets (printed in other languages than English), and books and pamphlets and publications of foreign governments, and the publications of foreign societies; historical or scientific matters printed for gratuitous distribution; paintings in oil or water-color and statuary not otherwise provided for; stone unmanufactured or undressed; hair, batters' fur (unstained), rags, rattans and reeds unmanufactured.

The new tariff bill proposes to fix the duty on pig iron at $6 per ton. On iron ore, steel railway bars weighing more than 25 pounds to the yard, and slabs or billets of steel, $11 per ton. On iron or steel rails, weighing not over 25 pounds to the yard, $14 per ton, and on iron or steel flat rails, punched, $15 per ton.

The bill provides for admitting free of duty after July 1st all wools, hair of alpaca, goat and other like animals; wools or skin, woolen rags, shoddy, men's, waste and flocks, and after October 1, 1888, it provides, among other things, for 40 per cent duty on woolen and worsted cloth, shawls and all manufactured wool not specially enumerated, and on flannels, blankets, knit goods, women's and children's dress goods composed in part of wool.

A TEXAS MASSACRE.

A Family of Negroes Ruthlessly Slaughtered.
HOUSTON (Tex.), March 1.—A shocking massacre occurred at Spanish Camp, sixty miles west of this city, Sunday morning. The settlement is composed of Mexicans, negroes and white desperadoes. A negro cabin was set on fire and the occupants were deliberately shot down as they ran half awake, out of the burning house. Five were killed outright and one severely injured, while two were burned to death in the cabin. Another negro was caught and hanged to a tree. The butchery was the outcome to a suit for possession of land recently decided in favor of the dead negroes in the district court at Wharton. Spanish Camp is far from any telegraph station, and full details of the massacre have not been received.

The Burlington Strike.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The Burlington officials are more confident than ever this morning. The company said that a number of freight trains in Iowa, Nebraska, Mississippi and Illinois had been moved. Some through trains came in this morning and the full suburban service is in operation. About 200 Reading engineers have arrived and were being examined today. Many of them have already been put to work. The men are hopeful that the strike will be settled at a conference to-day.

The Law Satisfied.

HOBSON (N. Y.), March 1.—Oscar T. Beckworth was hanged at the courthouse at nine minutes past 10 o'clock this morning for the murder of Simon Vandercrook, at Amsterdam, on the 10th of January, 1882. The case became celebrated from the fact that the condemned man had been sentenced to death six times.

COAST DISPATCHES.

A CLOSE CALL.

Four Shots Fired at Judge McM. Shafter by a Murderous Sailor.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Carl Lange a German sailor with rather a wild coat of countenance, made an attempt to murder Judge McM. Shafter, opposite the entrance to Judge Hunt's court-room at the new City Hall. Few persons were in the vicinity at the time, and but for Judge Shafter's presence of mind Lange would have accomplished his purpose. As it was, he fired two shots from a 38-caliber Colt's double action revolver, and in the struggle for possession of the weapon two more shots were discharged, none of which, however, took effect. One of the bullets went within a few inches of the Judge's head, but the second flew wide of the mark and perforated the ceiling half way down the corridor. A large crowd gathered in response to Judge Shafter's cry for assistance, among them being several officers from the City Hall police station. Lange was immediately disarmed and taken to the jail where he was locked up on a charge of assault to murder. Judge Shafter was taken into Judge Hunt's courtroom, where he soon recovered from his excitement and said he was unhurt.

The trouble arose out of a divorce suit now pending between Dr. Shafter and his wife. The former is a son of Judge Shafter and the latter is a sister of the would be assassin. Lange asserts that Judge Shafter tried at him first, but his story is disbelieved.

AN OREGON HORROR.

Particulars of the Atrocious Murder of J. H. Barrett.

PORTLAND, Mar. 1.—Reports from Heppner state that public feeling is very bitter over the fearful murder of J. H. Barrett on Sunday morning by Fred Crump, his brother-in-law. The particulars show the tragedy to have been an atrocious one. Barrett and Crump lived close together on ranches. On Saturday evening the men had a quarrel regarding some sheep, and almost came to blows. By dawn they separated them and each went home. Early on Sunday morning Crump called at Barrett's house, asking him to step out a moment. The latter was unarmed and unsuspecting nothing. He was most murderously set upon by Crump, who, armed with a large dirk-knife, just as Barrett stepped from the door, stabbed him a number of times, causing instant death.

Barrett's wife and his little children were horrified witnesses of the atrocious butchery, but could render no assistance, so quickly was the work done. Crump was lodged in jail at Heppner, and so high was the public feeling that fears were entertained that the prisoner would be lynched.

A Murderer Arrested.

COLUSA, Feb. 29.—Sheriff Beville, of this place, received word a couple of weeks ago that a man answering to the description of Sam Welling, who murdered J. V. H. Safford in this county on the 28th day of last July, had been arrested in Arkansas, and was held for identification. Under Sheriff Stanton went for the man, armed with requisition papers, but has been unable to identify him thoroughly, and the Arkansas court refuses to let the man be taken without further identification. Two men who were well acquainted with Welling will leave here for that purpose. There is a reward of $1,500 offered for his apprehension. Welling is the only man charged with crime in this county during the incumbency of the present Sheriff who has escaped.

He Preferred Death.

MARYSVILLE, March 1.—J. O. Cousins, the mulatto, whom the doctors several weeks ago pronounced afflicted with leprosy, made a fifth and successful attempt on his life last evening by swallowing the contents of a bottle of laudanum. For the last few days he has suffered much and swore that he would kill himself. He had lived here for over twenty years and was well known.

A Farmer's Sudden Death.

BRIDGEPORT (Cal.), March 1.—Mr. Brown, an aged farmer in Antelope valley was found dead in the road about 9 o'clock last night. He was after a load of posts, and from appearances the team ran away and he started after them, but dropped dead in the road. The deceased has been troubled with heart disease for a number of years.

AYER'S PILLS

CURE HEADACHE.

Headaches are usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, foul stomach, or other derangements of the digestive system, and may be easily cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Mrs. Mary A. Scott, Portland, Me., writes: "I had suffered dreadfully from Sick Headache, and thought myself incurable. Disorder of the stomach caused it. Ayer's Pills cured me entirely."

John C. Pattison, Lowell, N. H., writes: "I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice. I was so dangerously ill, that my friends despaired of my recovery. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. Thoughts in Fancy Dress.

The definitions of common things and the statement of ordinary occurrences, such as we read and hear, would furnish material for a new dictionary. A clergyman was accused of plagiarism, whereupon a Western paper describes it as "a case of morbidly retentive memory reaching upon unusual receptivity of mind and producing unconscious assimilation of ideas." A chronic liar is guilty of not always handling the English language with sufficient carelessness to meet the demands of veracity.

Since science has criticized the drinking habit, moderate drinking is called "taking it in true physiological quantity;" and when a man is thirsty he suffers from "polydipsia." A cyclone is called "an escaped earthquake laboring under temporary insanity." A certain young lady is "able to sing hymns like a ten octave angel;" a man does not register at a hotel but "autographs;" while a dramatic critic, decimating a certain actress in "Galatea," says she is "like a babe, that opens its wide eyes for one moment on the world, and then leaves it with a sigh; like a flower that breathes its fragrance for a perfume, a hazy, tender, sweeter, more exalting." A horse trot in a steady country community is announced in this inoffensive way: "Two well known animals will contend for local superiority on Monday next at the Agricultural Park." An independent newspaper speaks of "good old Democrats of the brown jug and corn-cob stopper variety," while George W. Cable describes New Orleans as "a tumbling, bellowing surfeit of tremendous energies and vast enterprises." A negro accounts for the sun spots on the ground that "the astromonical confuxion of the solum cistern am ramified by deoknoschul wave, an dat brings de earl's axioms in effigy vid Venice, and dis 'cations de ultimur apots." De quincy, describing is such manner wrote that "the luxurious torpor of self-indulgence" had "extended its mists to the energy and clearness of his perceptions." (Brooklyn Eagle.

The Reality of War.

Here is a horrible battle picture from Suakim. It is taken from a letter from an officer of the Scots Guard. The time of the picture is the day following the fight at McNeill's aerba: "When going from Suakim, the last three miles of the march were marked at every step by graves, Arab and Indian, so shallow that from all cooped dark and hideous stains, and from many protruded mangled feet, half-stripped grinning skulls, or ghastly hands, still clutched in the death agony, though reduced to little more than bone and sinew. The ground was also thickly sown with hands and feet dragged from their graves by the hyenas, and the awful stench and reek of carrion which loaded the air will never be forgotten, as I think, by any of us. Day after day we passed and repassed over the same sickening scene with our convoys, in blinding dust and under a scorching sun, obliged to move at a foot's pace to keep up with the weary camels and to pick our steps carefully for fear of suddenly setting foot on one of those dreadful heaps of corruption."

Ocean Lightships.

There is a project on foot to establish a chain of lightships across the Atlantic, electrically connected with the shore. Light steel cables of recent construction have been used to anchor vessels in the deepest ocean water. The plan is for a succession of lightships, seven in number, to be stretched across the ocean from the Grand Banks to the shores of Ireland. Then the distance between shore and ship and between the ships themselves would be about 250 miles. Each ship would ride to a mushroom anchor, which would permit it to swing to the tide without fouling its anchor. Only a small electro dynamo machine and engine would be required to keep an arc light aglow in the tops. The stations being 250 miles apart, no ships upon the high seas, if following the alignment of the lightship, need at any time be more than 125 miles from telegraphic communication with the shore, or from succor in case of mishap. This would be only an eight hours' run, and even much less for a first-class steamer, and about 12 hours' run for a sailing vessel with a fair wind. The position of each lightship would, of course, be accurately determined and laid down on the United States Coast Survey and the admiralty charts. The progress of the great Atlantic liners could be telegraphed daily to both America and Europe, if kept within sight of the lightship, and that painful suspense which now attends the breaking of a shaft or rudder would rarely, if ever, be experienced. These lightships would be valuable, also, in perfecting the weather charts of the world. They could communicate weather phenomena both to Europe and America, and warn passing vessels of storms or icebergs in their path. (Demorest's Monthly.

"Mummy Wheat."

The stories about "mummy wheat" sprouting after having lain dormant in Egyptian tombs for thousands of years, are, to say the least, very dubious in the opinion of Dr. Brown, F. L. S. "No well authenticated instances of such finds are," he adds, "extant, while among other articles sold by the Arabs to credulous travelers as coming out of the same tomb as the ancient wheat, there have been dahila bulbs and maize, the deposition of which in the receptacle from which they were said to be extracted necessitates the belief that 3,000 years ago the subjects of the Pharaohs were engaged in commerce with America."
